DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morawski et al (US 2001/0002605). Morawski et al discloses a molded article, in this case, a toothbrush fabricated by injection molding techniques characterized in the molded article is formed of a copolymer polyester resin made up of polyethylene terephthalate constitutional units and poly-1, 4-dimethylene cyclohexane terephthalate constitutional units. Specifically Morawski et al discloses, "this material is comprised of poly (ethylene-1, 4-cyclohexylenedimethylene terephthalate)" (see paragraph [0051]). Morawski et al teaches that the material is used for making a decorative pattern for example on toothbrushes. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that the decorative pattern may be applied to denture bases or any one of the items in the group as recited in claim 3, as a matter of obvious design choice by a manufacturer. This also reads on claims 6 and 9-13.

Regarding claims 4 and 5, Morawski et al substantially discloses the claimed invention except for the ratio of PET units to PCT units being in a range of greater than 1 or less than 1. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the molded article with any ratio of PET units to PCT units, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claims are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

As to claims 7-8, these claims are directed toward a product made by a specific process. They provide no additional structure to the article and are therefore given no patentable weight. Thus, any rejections applied to claim 3 may also be applied to these claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
